

THE WHITE STAR LINE

The White Star Line was the most successful and powerful shipping company in the world, they revolutionised travel by creating the biggest and most luxurious passenger ships the world had ever seen. These ships were capable of transporting thousands of passengers across the Atlantic Ocean to America.

30 James Street, formerly Albion House, was the headquarters for the White Star Line shipping company, where magnificent liners such as the Olympic, Britannic and Titanic were created. Following a forced merger by the government in 1933, White Star Line and Cunard became the Cunard White Star Line and Albion House no longer served as the company's headquarters after 37 years of service.

RMS Carpathia was the saving grace in the tale of the Titanic. On the fateful evening of the 14th April 1912, RMS Carpathia was travelling from New York to Fiume when Captain Arthur Henry Rostron was awoken following a distress call from RMS Titanic. The liner immediately set off towards the Titanic's last known location, arriving at 4am and collecting the 705 survivors.

After years of dereliction, the Grade II listed building reopened in April 2014, as 30 James Street – Home of the Titanic, a luxury hotel, spa and rooftop champagne bar.*
